STARS THAT ARE SHINING
 Floyd Shackelford has been signed by Ruth Roland Productions to appear as the porter in her new road picture "The Mysterious Bat" under the direction of Joe McDermott. The way Mr. Berry is burning up the Hollywood one would think that James Barry is the busiest little actor in pictures. Having finished one picture for the Hamilton-White studio he is back with Century for a week or two with the Bryan Foy Co. Since Charlie the elephant was killed Hayes (Fat) Robinson seems to be the only one working in pictures.

THE MATTER OF BRUCE'S BEACH
 Mrs. Bruce is not disposed to consider the ordinance and is not inclined to be a party to the suit. She is willing to sell her property and even if a suit be instituted, would sell at a fair price at any time, and would abandon the suit at such time. The Pacific Electric Railway track runs between the Bruce property and the water front.

OPINION
 Based on the foregoing premises, permit me to advise:
 1. That the first ordinance might be defeated in a proper court action; but since it is likely that this ordinance will be abandoned, a suit is not necessary.
 2. The second ordinance zoning the district for residential purposes is more formidable; and it is possible that we would not succeed in an action to declare it invalid. Since bathers from the Bruce property would necessarily cross the rail road track to reach the water, it is likely that the danger insured in crossing and recovering these tracks would be advanced as the ground for the enactment of the ordinance; though we believe the ordinance to have been inspired by other reasons, this excuse would be considered reasonable and sufficient to sustain the ordinance.
 Whether this association nor any person could bring an action to set aside either of these ordinances unless they had vested interest in the property involved. Such action must be brought in the name of Mrs. Bruce or some other land owner there. Since Mrs. Bruce is unwilling to institute an action, and would not hesitate to give one if a fair price is offered for her property, it is inadvisable for this association to undertake such a suit. Finally, your attorney regards the beach situation as a financial problem rather than a racial one. He is convinced that any person or association having sufficient money to finance the venture can obtain suitable beach grounds for a bath house and other business purposes.
 Respectfully submitted,
E. DUBOYON CERULLI
 Atty. for L. A. Branch, N.A.A.C.P.

AN OPEN LETTER
 Los Angeles, Calif., July 5, 1924.
 Pres. Calvin Coolidge, White House, Washington, D. C.
 In the great sorrow just now, we Black People of Southern California, about eighty thousand, carry the same sorrow with us as you and your wife, Mrs. Coolidge. We feel the same in our hearts as we did toward Mr. Lincoln.
 Be steady; God giveth and God taketh. All the nation mourns the loss of your dear boy.
 The Black People never get excited. You are true to us as Mr. Lincoln and Charles Sumner. You and the party can depend on us at all times.
 May God be with you and speed you on.
 Yours forever,
LUCAS C. LUKE.
 221 Hamlock.

IN THE MUSIC WORLD

By John A. Gray
 When school opens in the fall there will be new faces in the school orchestra. We hope that a large percentage of them will be of our boys and girls. The training that they receive is excellent and will be of great value in future years.
 We must encourage however, the study of some other instruments besides saxophone and violin. Not that these instruments are not all right, but that there is always an abundance of them and a scarcity of other very important instruments.
 Among the strings there are the viola and cello. Both of which are very fine solo instruments and which require as much virtuosity as the violin. In the same family is also the bass fiddle, as it is popularly known. We know of only two young people in the city who play the cello, and of none who play the viola. It would pay our young violinists to learn to double on the viola as it is nearly the same as the violin. The greatest difficulty would be reading from a strange clef.
 A player of any of the above three instruments would find many openings in orchestras that are now full as regards violins and saxophones.
 Among the wind instruments there are the oboe, flute and bassoon. None of which the young people seem inclined to take up. Oboe and flute parts are written in nearly all scores and are usually played by some other instrument. While this gives the harmony it does not supply the tone-color and that is what is wanted. A flute or oboe player could always be sure of finding a vacancy in the orchestra.
 The more unusual the instrument, the easier the chance of finding a vacancy. This will mean more race boys and girls in the orchestra.
 The day is not far hence when we shall have fine concert and dance orchestras in our city and the need for players will be great.
 The world moves on and we must move with it. The young people of the chrestas of the future will require players who can read music, and play it at sight. A thing that is not so common today.
 Among other musical lines the trained musicians will find their services in great demand. Now is the time to start while the boy and girl are young, and they should stick to it. Venues that are closed today are closed because we cannot fill them. The school orchestra should attract our young people and not repel them, and more attention should be given the other instruments.

POPULAR YOUNG COUPLE WED
 A lovely and unique wedding was held Wednesday evening 8:00 o'clock at Wesley Chapel M. E. Church in which Mr. W. W. Glenn gave his daughter, Berthella Meadors in marriage to Mr. Henry Brooks.
 The ceremony took place in the ladies' parlor of the church, the Rev. Shaw officiating. The charming bride wore a white silk beaded crepe dress and satin slippers and carried in her arms a bouquet of roses. A dainty white and green wreath adorned her hair.
 After congratulations and expressions of hearty approval by those assembled, the friends were served in the reception hall of the church. The bride threw her bouquet into a group of her young friends and Miss Laura Bruce caught the flowers.
